Trustees of Bay St. Louis Mainicipal Separate School District went over with architect Charles L. Proffer plans for a: new high school, additions at Valena C. Jones and Waveland and dressing room facilities; for home and visiting teams at Tiger stadium, last Thursday

The high school designed by Proffer will have 91,970 square feet of enclosed area and 3,780 square feet of covered walks. Two classroom wings account for 35,800; the auditorium for 24,890; gym, 19,500; cafeteria building, 6,130; and foyer 3,650.

Additions at Valena C. Jones include three classrooms, a science lab and a stage in the gym. Waveland School would be enlarged by two classrooms if all the projects are approved and the necessary bond issue

Even firm architect's estimetes of costs are not now available because the board still has to make decisions on various materials to be used. However, it seems probable the program will cost upwards of $950,000 with the new high school accounting for at least

Supervisors protest planned Jordan River bridge clearance

Interstate 10 bridge over jordan River were protest by the board of supervisors Monday who held they would constitute a hazard to navigation as well as detering industrial development of the river.

Supervisors asked the Corps of Engineers to require the U.S., Bureau of Public Roads to provide a 35-foot vertical and 75foot horizontal clearance on the fixed structure rather than the 20 and 50 feet the government agency is asking. Objections to the I-10 bridge plans nust be filed with the Corps at Mobile by Oct. 16.

The board went on record congratulating all agencies helping with the threst posed by Hurricane Hilds, citing good organization, cooperation of the public and lack of looting.

Chester Favre, county civil defense director, concurred that cooperation between the Bay St. Louis and county units was good but suggested that in the future the county buy civil defense equipment on its own rether than in conjunction with someone else so there would be no red tape about using it when

At the request of Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner the board exto Coroner Emile Plazza its position, concurred in by the attorney-general, that (Cont. on Page 2A)

Supervisors agreed on the need for more shart wave radios in the county and assured Plazza they after determining the condition of the general fund next March.

Appropriations on the basis $300 a mile for the Necaise to Caesar Road to be taken over by the state highway department were voted from Beat 4 and 3 funds following a complaint by John McElligott of Leetown that the board had not implemented its agreement to that effect of last August and improvements were sorely needed. Supervisor H.G. Dean criticized McElligott's impatience and statement to the board in light of the illness of Best 4 Supervisor James

With the start of the new fiscal year the board approved inter-fund loans in anticipation of revenues of $12,000 each to Beats 3 and 4 from the road and bridge bond fund. Best 3 repaid $4,000 it had borrowed earlier from Best 2 and Beat 4 repaid $2,000 to Beat 5.

At the request of Supervi-sor Necaise the board voted to advertise for bids on a bush haul for Beat 4. They called also for bids on a truck to be purchased for the seawall fund although Supervisor R.G. Hubbard, ir., expressed concern about the position the auditors would ake of this move.

Same sad song

'Honcock County's growth potential resulting from Mississippi Test Operations have been frequently commented on here and elsewhere. In many respects we have more to offer than competing areas such as Picayune and Slidell.

From the standpoint of recreation we have both. towns beaten hands down. Also on our plus side is the crowded condition of Slidell and Picayune's dryness.

We are blessed with private (parochial) schools and such comparative figures as we have seen indicate the Bay Municipal System to be superior to Picayune's, although our physical plant is behind theirs and becoming more so daily.

For a rural high school Hancock North Central offers more than the average number of courses, 32, and appears particularly strong in its English and math departments. Superintendent J.D. Penton told the county school board Monday that North Central was "progressing academically, athletically and financially---most important, academically".

Notwithstanding Logtown School's increased curricula---Mrs. Arlie Strain is teaching music and art gratuitously---its new peewee athletic program, for which something like $450 was contributed toward initial uniforms, etc., and an enthusiastic P-TA, aeither it nor Gulfview presently offer prospects for the schooling a family moving here wants for its children. Until this situation is changed by construction of a school at Pearlington to replace Logtown and by addition to Gulfview, prospective newcomers will not choose those areas. This in turn will at least delay any high school facility in the south county area, since the Logtown and Gulfview schools must supply the students for the high school.

It all boils down to one thing. Both our school systems bedly need new construction and in a hurry if the county is to grow as it should.

WASHINGTON—Though stung by Sen. Goldweter's personal attacks on him, President Johnson doesn't insend to be goaded into a brawl with his Republican rival. eldest told aides emphatically.

This won't prevent other engry Democrats, however, from sispping back at Goldwater. They have come up with some startling facts from Goldwater's own background which they will start haring at him during the closing weeks of the campaign. Here are some of the countercharges that should soon be hitting the headlines:

stercharge No. 1—Goldwater's favorite accusatio repeated daily, is that the President "has surrounded himself rith companions like Bubby Baker and Billie Sal Estee." The Democrats have now planed down proof that Goldwater's own companions included mobsters Willie Bioff and Gue Green-Both came to a violent end in classic gas Bioff was blows up by a bomb planted in his truck, and Greenbaum had his throat expertly site by underworld rivels.

The Democrate have established that two weeks before Bioff's murder, he flew with Goldwater from Les Vegas to Phoenix in Goldwater's private plans, Though reports haven't been verified that Goldwater attended Bioff's funeral, it is known definitely that he showed up at the gala, underworld-style inneral of Gus Greenb

At least one campaign contribution has been traced from Bioff to Goldwater, and Phoentx newsmen have linked Goldwater with an attempt to keep the Arizona Republic, from printing a story about Bioff's unsavory background.

Democrats also have learned that Goldwater's brother made a deal with gaugater Moe Dalitz to open a branch of the Goldwater store in Les Vegas's febulous Desert les. Dalitz is hose of the former Cleveland and Detroit socilegies. and gambling combination that has taken over the Desert in.

BILLIE SOL VS. WILL'E BIOFF

This Les Vegas breach, like the main store in Phoenix, was Presidential politics. Then the name was heatily changed to the D. I. Distinctive Apperel Shop.

The deal was made in the name of Robert Goldwater, who is listed with Irving Miller, a friend from Phoenix, as the owner of In the future, everytime Goldwater mentions Bobby Baker and Billie Sol Estes, the Democrats will throw back the names of Willie Bioff. Gus Greenbeum, and Moe Dalitz.

Countercharge No. 2-Goldwater has also made an issue of Johnson's growing not worthwhile he has been in public life. With the help of Wall Street experts, the Democrats have figured that Goldwater's own stock has increased in value from $324,305 to 11.434,291 since he was elected to the Senate. His most valuable holdings are in Borg-Warner, which has received $11,337,000 worthof defense contracts while he served on the Senate Armed Services Committee. Democratic speakers will also start asking Goldwater what he does for the $5,000 annual salary his family firm, Associated Drygoods, still pays him. If he does no part-time work for the company while he is supposed to be a full-time Senator, the Democrats will demand to know whether the company deducts the $5,000 from its tames as part of the company payroll.

Combincharge No. Sala almost every campaign speech, Goldwaig, has lasted our against lawlessness in the streets. The Democrats will reply that the crime rate in Phoenix is fourth. thest in the nation—much higher, for example, then Washington,

Since the Goldwater machine runs Arizona, the Democrats will ask what he has done shout crime in his own home town. Goldwater's heachmen at least have authority to combat lawless-ness in Phoenix, whereas Johnson has no authority to interfere with local law enforcement

The Democrats will also cits figures to showthat the Justice particular under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson has been far more active in cracking down on organized crime than it was under Republican rule; while federal government has jurisdiction over interestate gambling, narcotics smuggling and other organiz-

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS considered the community activities of all parties, both citizens and officials, as a result of the recent hurricans designated by the name of "Hilds".

It was the unanimous thinking of the Board that they were proud to be the governing authorities of Hancock County wherein such wonderful community spirit was exhibited. The Board felt that they would be derelict if they did not publicly thank the parties, who participated in avoiding a serious condition, as a result of the hurricane.

The Board feels extremely grateful to the parties who cooperated so wonderfully well in this time of sear tragady.

In the opening period, Buddy Dean ran Logtown's first goal and backed it up by trotting across his own extra point. Also in the second, Gulfview made its bid when Larry Garcia made pay dirt and Guy Fricke ran the immediate needs might be satisfied with two less classrooms and other niceties planned for Pearlington when the $300,000 bond issue was defeated last May, it was apparent from the discussion that the gympasium~cafetorium would have to be eliminated even if considerably more than $125,000 were available. While having no gym would present no problem in getting state approval of the construction plans, temporary or no lunch room facilities might cause disapproval by the State Education Finance Commission.

The third quarter brought Keith Randall scrambled across the line for two TD's and Walker made out with one of the two conversion attempts.

Superintendent J.D. Penton of North Central said it would pose no problem at North Central if the two additional classrooms proposed for them during the unsuccessful bond election were eliminated as long as the physical education addition was constructed. One classroom is provided in this addition. The other item of new construction at North Central that presently appears likely to be advocated by the school board is the bus Ortte said he thought if only four or six new classrooms were built at Gulfview enrollment there, currently 197, would immediately jump past 240. He also estimated, in which Principal Percy Hatch concurred that a school at Pearlington, would be only a year or so longer reaching the 240 figure. Importance of the 240 figure is at only when a school llment of that has an or more will the state aid financially in its construction.

An over-all problem, according to Ortte, is "we have to convince people at Pearlington and Gulfview we are trying to build schools and not play politics. We don't have their confidence now". In this connection Hatch said the people "have got to reach the point of realizing your are doing the best you can". He added he thought people in the Pearlington area

DURING HILDA'S PEAK would back up the board if it went forward now with the reduced plans for the school there as long as they knew there were plans for completion of abetter facility when money was avail-

Service was restored late londay on the rest of some 600 telephones on the Bay St. Louis excharge knocked out of order by falling trees and limbs, as Hilda's winds skirted the area last weekend,

After the winds eased Sunday about half the number were put back in order, according to J. Conway Dabney, Gulfport group manager for Southern

Over Mississippi as a whole there were 30,000 phones af fested including 463 long distance circuits, he said. Western Electric sent in equipment assist with these repairs.

It was the third time in five weeks Southern Bell has been hit by a hurricane with damage estimated at $4 million.

Dabney noted that service at the Bay exchange continued throughout the heavy storm period with auxiliary generators standing by in event of power failure.

In the Gulfport-Pass Christian-Standard exchanges area. repairs were expected to continue until Wednesday. Repair crews started to mork when the first trouble was reported Sunday morning.

received to activate the local tion with civil defense directors, county and city officials, and officials of Waveland and Logiown took place early Friday and Saturday morning. Plans to furnish men, trucks, and equipment were made in readiness for the on-coming hurricane.

By late Friday some 15 guardsmen had volunteered to remain at the armory for possible call-out and to assist the community when needed, Saturday morning when activation orders came, guardsmen were ready and prepared to lend assistance where needed.

Seven volunteers from an attached unit located in Biloxi provided extra vehicles and equipment to this area early Saturday morning. They were Sgt. Donald R. Chatham, SP4 Wayne A. Goff, Sheppard J. Gonsulin, Leonard C. Hosli, Walter J. Gary, Pfc. Ellwood Delahoussey and Pvt. Robert Begnaud.

With Hurricane Hilds hovering heavily (how shout all the H's?) all weekend, finally arriving sometime Smidey a.m. (we can't vouch for the exact time as we appearantly slope through most of it) in quite diminished circumstances, thank goodness we find ourselves getting quite a late start on the column. Late and under quite a handicap, thanks to Hilds, . . a herosene lamp is better than no light, but not much and colline dripped in a pot unused for several years isn't very palatable but we're too busy thanking The Powers That Be that such minor inconveniences are all we've had to suffer, that we won't complain.

Orchids to civil defense

In fact we want to congratulate Bert Stieffel and each and every one of his CD workers and local law enforcement officers for a real fine job of protecting life and property. They put in long, hard hours and although the worst did not happen, they were prepared for it. Some were annoyed when ordered to remain indoors until the blowhad passed, but winds to 65 mph aren't to be laughed at and numerous live power lines were down so the CD boys were just following orders. Wives also are in line for pats on the back. . . we only dropped in on the Waveland School shelter at noon Saturday where 35 had already been fed and housed since Friday night and the real evacuation hadn't even begun at that time.

This leads us into a very legitimate gripe -although the school in Waveland was designated as an official shelter as soon as the area went on hurricane alert, workers were unable to serve hot food (all brought from their homes and donated by local stores) as the cafeteria was not open. Long after dark Saturday gallons of gumbo and other food remained cold as the permission to use the cafeteria still had not been obtained.

An old chum passes

It is with a heavy heart that we report the passing of one of our very favorite people. Ed Phillips passed away Wednesday in Bantist Hospital just about the time he was expected to be released and allowed to return home. Mr. Ed was a perfect example of our idea of a real southern gentleman and we extend our deepest sympathies to his widow, Betty.

More new babies-Daun and Geetsie Ruhr's fifth girl and seventh child arrived Wednesday at Hancock General weighing a whopping 10 pounds. . .due to hurricane excitement we forgot to ask what they named the young lady. An understandable oversight as our informant was Mrs. Charles Carver who was quite elated over the birth of daughter Patsy, (Mrs. Donald) Saucier's first child, a little girl, who is now the fourth generation of the family and we should shortly have a picture of the foursome.

Sideliahts on Hilda

One of the most popular shelters around (although unofficial) was Sam Benigno's as the real refuges definitely prohibited anyone entering with alcoholic beverages. . . and face it, a hoochless hurricane isn't much fun. Some of the outfits deemed suitable for stormy weather were really something to behold. Lathon Garriga informed the Honorable Mayor, John Scafide that he resembled the man on the sardine can in his rain hat and slickerand Lathon and Gerald Gex had the fanciest rubber boots with wild 'yaller' lacings which we're wondering if they ever got wetl Bill Redo also had a 'sardine can' outfit while directing traffic away from the Beach as water dashed across the seawall. Brewster Mollere kept his civilian band radio hot from that point reporting conditions in Waveland, Polly Fagen described her shirt and blue jean get-up as her Hucklebenny Pinn costume. Mary Alice and Joe Benvenutti and neighbor Lois Gianelloni chose their usual attire but had plans for loading their collective kids in Lois' boat if high water hit Burnett Street Andy Becker, who with his PO crew conducted business as usual, had an uncomfortable moment when a drop of moisture hit his hand and he was certain the post office roof had sprung a leak. . .fortunately it was from natural causes and no mail got damp.

Marty (Mrs. John) Glover's sister, Glenda Stevenson, and a friend Linda Donahue, both of Kansas City, cut their visit short due to the Hilda's threat, but not before taking in the strip Wednesday night and the French Quarter on Thursday night. They returned with all kinds of souvenir pictures and the like from Al Hirt's plush new spot.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Weeks thoroughly enjoyed their visit with their daughter and husband in Pennslyvania but temperature differences were drastic. Their windshield iced up while enroute home and the thermometer hovered at around 95 when they got back to the

New Horizons

Despite unkind critics, unprejudiced financial publications testify to the unprecedented industrial growth of the South and to the improvement being made by Mississippi, in particular.

Almost daily some new venture to brighten the state's future is heralded in news headlines.

The Mississippi Gulf Coast undergoes a diversified development that captivates the attention and imagination of editors and commentators everywhere. Tremendous progress is being made in many sectors of our many-sided economy.

Paper making, pulp and wood products, nuclearpowered steel ships, oil and gas fields and a major refinery, optic supplies, medicinals, port expansions, seafood, tung nuts, reforestation, military installations. hospitals, hotels, golf courses, resort and recreational facilities and a colossal man-on-the-moon project — the unpresedented strides of the Gulf Coast Area approach the fabulous and the unbelieveable.

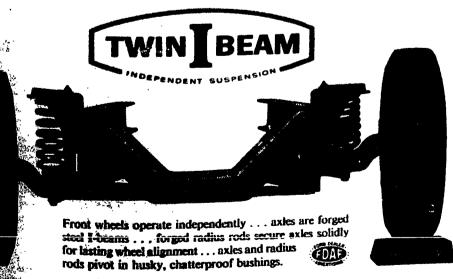

How fortunate we are to have pioneered with an enterprising citizenship in this potentially rich playground and workshop. To have some part in this industrial evolution is a challenging and inspiring experience.

Civic consciousness, community spirit and teamwork transform the Mississippi Gulf Coast into a beehive of busy men and women, building for a more abundant

Many wrenches are being thrown into Mississippi's economic machine to create social and political unrest by those who for some reason envy us our advantages. and who would deny us our proportionate share of the great American birthright. But these unkind critics will not deny us our place in the sun.

These are challenging but also promising times, and Mississippians with their feet on solid ground and their heads in the stars, move on to new horizons.

Hawks nipped by Bearcats

Bearcat Wayne Smith in the last six minutes of play smashed Hancock North Central's topes of a win over Long Beach Monday night at Hawk stadium. Long Beach prevailed 24-20 in a contest otherwise dominated by spirited Hancock North The game originally was set for Friday night but postponed due to heavy rains with the approach of Hurricane Hilds. The Hawks return to action this Friday at Harrison Central.

Long Beach went ahead 6-0 in the first quarter but the Hawks took over in the second period with two touchdowns and successful conversions to lead 14-6 at the half.

Kenny Randall ran 21 yards for the initial Hawk tally and quarterback Eddie Peterson passed to Wendell Ladner for the extra point. Peterson passed to Paul Cuevas for nine yards for the second score and the same combination added the point after.

The Bearcats scored again in the third quarter but missed the conversion to leave the Hawks shead 14-12. A Peterson o Randall pass for 15 yards added six more points for the Hawks but Eddie's pass attempt to Wendell Ladner was incomplete for the extra point in the fourth period. Long Beach added two more touchdowns without extra points and that wasit.

> OUT AGAIN HUNTING INDUSTRY

Our industrial development men are hard to catch. They may be in Boston. Chicago. or Los Angeles selling Southeast Mississippi as an industrial location

Last year these men traveled more than 75.000 miles in 30 states and made over 450 personal calls on industrial prospects

If they're not traveling, our industrial development representatives are probably writing letters. They write about 5,000 a year giving site information and industrial studies and promoting the area's industrial advantages

It's a lot of traveling, talking and letter writing... but when they've helped a new industry settle in our area, they think it's worth it.
